NASA News...

NEW ORLEANS, La. - Dr. George N. Constan, general manager of NASA Michoud Operations here, announced today that a peak total of some 10,000 Government contractor personnel is expected to be employed at the Saturn booster manufacturing facility by mid-1964.

Five thousand personnel are currently employed at the installation.

Speaking at the 49th National Meeting Luncheon of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers in New Orleans, Dr. Constan added that these personnel would represent an annual peak payroll of more than $50 million.

He noted that more than $700 million in contracts had been awarded to date by NASA in support of Michoud and its projects for a period ending in mid-1967.

Present scheduling he continued, calls for the Operations' fiscal year 1963 and 1964 budgets to approach $170 million and $230 million, respectively.

Recent decisions regarding scheduling and missions of the Saturn S-C boosters have made it possible, he added, to better define personnel and financial requirements at Michoud.

First stages for both the Saturn I and Saturn V Apollo space vehicles are being manufactured at Michoud, under the direction of NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala.

K. P. Birchfield, Otto Finane and Glenn Purvis of the Mississippi Forestry Commission met with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors at a recent meeting.

A number of cases involving fires on school lands were discussed.

The Board decided that Mississippi State fire laws be enforced in cooperation with the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

The board further ordered that lessees of all section land be advised of their rights and obligations as a lessee of said land.

The group is of the opinion that action is necessary due to the large numbers of planted seedlings and young reproduction.

Mr. Purvis said the Hancock County Board of Supervisors has taken the lead in planting trees on school lands.

The Forestry Commission planted one and one-half million seedlings on their 16 section lands the past year and in previous years one-half million trees were planted.

The board, he added, was able to qualify for 50 percent federal reimbursement on their work. The board stated these trees belong to the school children of Hancock County and they urged each citizen to help protect them.

SJA - STANISLAUS STUDENTS TAKE QUALIFYING TEST

Sister Eugenie, St. Joseph Academy principal, announced this week 25 students took the 1963 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test recently, also, 63 students at St. Stanislaus High School took the 1963 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

The test was administered at the school at 9 a. m. Tuesday, March 5. All students who wished to be considered for Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1964 took the test at that time.

The qualifying test, a three-hour examination of educational development, is the first step in the ninth annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, associations, unions, and individuals.

The number of scholarships awarded in any year depends upon the extent of sponsor participation.

In 1962, 1041 Merit Scholarships were awarded, 632 of which were provided by 151 sponsors and 409 by the Merit Corporation. There are 3400 Merit Scholars attending 403 colleges in the current academic year.

The test scores of students who take the examination in March will be reported to their schools before May 15.

Some 13,000 Semifinalists, the highest scorers in each state, will be named early next fall.

Each semifinalist is required to take a second examination and those who repeat their high performance will become finalists in the Merit Program. Winners are then selected from the finalist group on the basis of school records and recommendations, test scores, extra curricular activities, leadership ability, and accomplishments outside the classroom.

OUR MISSISSIPPI INCOME TAX LAW

WHAT IS GROSS INCOME?

The Legislature, in its effort to define gross income, did so in very broad and inclusive language. The words used in the statute may not be improved on, and it is quoted for that reason.

"The law states, 'the term gross income includes gains, profits, and income derived from salaries, wages, or compensation for personal service of whatever kind, and in whatever form paid, or from professions, vocations, trades, businesses, commerce or sales, also interest, rent dividends, securities or the transaction of any business or enterprise for gain or profit, or from any source whatever.'

It will be seen from the above that every gain which can be determined, regardless of its nature, is to be included in gross income for Mississippi State income tax purposes. For that reason, the Legislature immediately, and in the same section of law, defined those items which might be excluded from gross income. They are:

Proceeds of life insurance policies paid upon the death of the insured.

2. Proceeds representing return of premiums paid on a policy by the insured. (A return in excess of premiums paid is income.)

3. The value of inheritances, bequests, or gifts. (But not the income therefrom.)

4. Interest upon the obligations of the United States, the State of Mississippi, or the political subdivisions of the State.

5. Proceeds received from accident insurance; damages received as the result of such sickness or injury; or disability pensions paid by the United States.

6. Income received by a philanthropic, religious, educational, or similar organization when the income is used exclusively to further its purposes.

7. Income of a domestic corporation when earned from sources without the State of Mississippi. Such sources shall be places of merchandising or manufacturing.

8. Dividends received from a corporation to the extent that such dividends have been taxed as dividends.

There are a few items which have caused some taxpayers difficulty. One is "Proceeds which represent return of premiums paid on a policy by the insured". This means, if an individual purchases an annuity or a life insurance contract, upon its maturity or surrender any sums received in excess of the amounts paid are to be included in gross income. The sums paid as premiums are to be excluded from gross income.

Item Number 4 above clearly indicates that interest received upon the obligations of any state other than Mississippi, or any government of any country other than the United States, should be included in gross income.

Item Number 8 above is limited in its application, and was introduced to serve the ends of equity. It means that income shall not be taxed as dividend income the second time for Mississippi income tax purposes. All dividends are taxable, unless the corporation paying such dividends has included in the measure of its income tax liability, dividends paid out of dividend income which is already being subjected to a Mississippi income tax.

Because of the greatly increased exemptions, service pay is no longer excluded from gross income. Nonresident men and very few officers will be required to pay an income tax, unless they have income from sources other than service pay.

Nonresident individuals are required to report all income from services performed, property owned, or business operated within the State of Mississippi. Such nonresidents are allowed a part or a percentage of the total exemption allowed residents. This exemption vers just now. Dead shrimp and most any live bait such as crickets, grasshoppers, small crayfish and grub worms will entice these good eating fish.

The artificial worms are proving excellent baits for catching perch and green trout. They are made for both casting and fly rods.

Green trout are still being caught on under water baits by trolling. An effective bait is the black goat and other underwater baits with strips of pork rind.

It won't be long before snakes will be out. Protect yourself with a snake bite kit. They are inexpensive and are ready to use at all times. They fit in any tackle box and should be carried by all fishermen who fish from the bank and wade in lakes and ponds. While frogging it is not uncommon to encounter these creatures. A kit can be also carried in a pocket.

An amazing article for campers is the pocket saw. It consists simply of 2 ring grips at the ends of a 20-inch length of jagged steel wire. It will cut firewood and only weighs 1/2 ounce.

A good idea is to keep your hooks sharp. Dull hooks have lost plenty of fish, for between the flex of your rod and the stretch of your line, plenty of the power is

For some reason fishing just won't get right. The waters in most bayous and rivers were bad the past week. A couple of famous spots produced a few green trout, but salt water fishing has not been too hot hereabouts. A few flounder beds were seen but no reports have been had on soft shell crabs. Could be that the weather has not warmed up enough.

Conditions should improve in the near future.

Pass Christian Golf Club had a goodly number of players over the weekend. It is good to know that golfing stands out when fishing is on the bad side. Luke Elliott, John Genin, John David, Mayor Scaife, John Scaife, Jr., Junior Fahey, Jake Morreale and others were seen playing Sunday.

Did you know that the Pass Christian Yacht Club is the second oldest yacht club in the United States, it was founded in 1849.

Speaking of yachting, this sport will soon get underway. The yacht clubs on the coast furnish plenty of action for those who enjoy sailing and boating during the summer months. We have many participants in the Bay who are anxiously awaiting the many regattas held along the Gulf Coast and from Florida and Louisiana.

Hard crabs should make their appearance soon. A couple of crab nets will furnish crabs for boiling, stuffing and many other enticing dishes. For those who don't know how to boil crabs, all that is needed is crab boil, salt and pepper, any type of hot seasoning. Boil until red and let cool in the seasoned water. To help season the crabs better, punch holes with an ice pick through the shell which will let the seasoning penetrate the meat.

A good eating fish is the fresh water cat. It is present in virtually all fresh water streams and when fried properly is hard to beat as a delicious seafood. They are usually skinned and are free of bones except for the back bone.

A salt water fish excellent for eating is the sheepshead. Small ones can be fried and the larger ones boiled or baked. They are usually caught around submerged shipwrecks, piling and along the railroad bridge. Dead bait and fiddlers are best for bait.

Luke Elliott, August Rauxet and yours truly made a nice catch of green trout Saturday. They were caught by trolling and on surface baits. There were 30 in all. Green trout and perch fishing will improve with warmer weather and good water.

According to reports perch are being caught mostly on regular old worms in the bayous and riis measured by the relation that the Mississippi gross income bears to the total gross income.

Every single person whose income exceeds $5,000.00, and every married couple whose joint income exceeds $7,000.00 is urged to file a report. Statement of the income and deductions claimed will suffice, and will prevent correspondence at a later date. It will reduce the cost of administration. It will be a definite contribution to the improvement of the service which the Commissioner of Income Tax and his staff are trying to render.

WATSON CRITICIZES OPERATIONS OF "SUPER" CO-OP

A. J. Watson, Jr., president of Mississippi Power Company, Gulfport, today sharply criticized efforts of South Mississippi Electric Power Association, a "Super" generation and transmission co-op, to construct what he termed "completely unnecessary and wasteful electric facilities that would furnish co-op consumers inferior service at higher rates."

His comments came as an aftermath of Thursday's decision by the Mississippi Public Service Commission granting South Mississippi a certificate of convenience and necessity to construct a $10-million, Federally financed G&T facility in Jones County.

"We cannot agree with the basis for the Commission's decision," Mr. Watson said. "The Public Utilities Act of 1935 definitely states that a so-called 'grandfather' certificate shall be issued only to those engaged in the construction or operation of equipment or facilities as of the effective date of the act. Undisputed testimony in the case was that the initial loan commitment to SMEPA in 1942, which the commission uses for the major basis of its decision, was never actually disbursed to the co-ops and no construction was ever started. In addition, such vague plans which they did claim to have in 1942 disclosed a system wholly different from the petition under discussion."

Mr. Watson emphasized that the heavily subsidized cooperatives were created to serve rural areas. However, he noted that recent actions of the co-ops in seeking to serve cities, municipalities and major industries were wholly unwarranted and contrary to the spirit and intent of the act establishing the REA.

"I have no quarrel with the original intent of the REA act, that of providing electric power to rural customers to whom central station service was not available. However, over the years, the act has been so distorted and abused that the aims and goals have been completely reversed and its worthy beginning has been drastically altered by rabid more-government-in-business bureaucrats."

"I think it is unfortunate," Mr. Watson continued, "that a state that prides itself on its business climate and local self-government is now inviting the Federal government to spend funds to compete with business-managed firms, for facilities that are wholly unneeded and a complete waste of taxpayers' money."

"If this facility is constructed, the 50,000 customers proposed to be served by this 'super' co-op will be placed under the further domination of the Federal government in Washington. There is no further regulatory body to which they can appeal if services or rates are not what they should be. These co-ops have surrendered under their mortgages to the Federal government, their rights to make certain decisions without approval of the REA administrator, so that they are not the locally owned and operated concerns they profess to be."

"Let's make no mistake about it," Mr. Watson emphasized. "This is a fight between private enterprise business on the one hand against the continuing encroachments of Federal bureaucracy on the other."

"This effort to build generation facilities is further evidence of the intent of Federal power zealots in Washington to dominate and control the electric facilities of this nation, replacing taxpayer, investor-owned utilities, with tax exempt, subsidized utilities. In the end, it is the taxpayer who must pay the bill, because the government can only give to the people that which it first has taken away."

Mr. Watson said that the project was not only duplicative, but also economically unsound. "Managers of three of the four cooperatives proposed to be served admitted under oath that G&T power would be up to 25 percent more than present service from investor-owned companies," he continued. "Yet they insist on burdening their consumers with a $18-million debt for 35 years to achieve their ends, in addition to untold future debts which, you can be assured, will be required to make later improvements and expansions."

Mr. Watson said increasing the cost of purchased power would take more money out of the pockets of the co-op's consumers, since co-ops claim to be non-profit organizations.

"Of importance to every Mississippi taxpayer, including co-op consumers, is the fact that the proposed system is tax free and pays only two percent interest on money the government must pay at least four percent to obtain," he said.

Mr. Watson concluded: "It seems inconsistent with our state and national obligations to spend taxpayers' money irrationally for unnecessary and uneconomic electric facilities, particularly when there is a genuine need for substantial reductions in government expenditures. We intend to appeal this decision of the Commission to the courts, and by every possible means available to us, to continue to oppose the construction of this wasteful facility, which we do not believe to be in the best interests either of the co-op consumers or of the citizens of Mississippi."
